Thank you for your interest in hiring a Boren Scholar or Boren Fellow!

By using this guide, a federal agency can non-competitively hire Boren award recipients to vacant jobs. Such a mechanism gives federal hiring managers the flexibility to hire any Boren award recipient with an unfulfilled federal service requirement. Federal agencies have the authority to conduct non-competitive hiring thanks to the David L. Boren National Security Education Act (50 U.S. Code § 1902, attached).

This guide was developed by the Defense Language and National Security Education Office (DLNSEO), which is the Defense Department office that manages the Boren awards program. If you have questions about the Boren hiring process, please contact Aleia Maculam at aleia.m.maculam.civ@mail.mil or Roy Savoy at roy.a.savoy2.ctr@mail.mil.

The below process is a high-level view of how a federal agency can hire a Boren Scholar or Fellow non-competitively. The blue boxes contain tasks for the agency hiring manager, the orange boxes show tasks that DLNSEO handles, and, lastly, the green box includes the hiring agency’s responsibility of issuing a conditional offer of employment.
Hiring a Boren Scholar or Fellow
Step-by-Step Guide to Non-Competitive Appointments

In this section, you will find a step-by-step guide that describes the above non-competitive hire process in more detail. These steps follow a start-to-finish model that dozens of federal agencies have used since 2010 to hire Boren award recipients.

Developing and Distributing the Vacancy Announcement

1. DLNSEO works with the hiring manager at the selecting office to complete a vacancy announcement, which is customized based on that office’s staffing requirements.

2. DLNSEO sends out a mass email to all eligible Boren award recipients. This email includes a vacancy announcement, instructions about how to apply for the vacancy, and contact information for questions. DLNSEO answers the majority of questions from applicants, but we also forward more difficult questions to the hiring office.

Reviewing Applications and Selecting a Candidate

3. When the announcement closes, DLNSEO certifies that all applicants are eligible for non-competitive appointment as Boren award recipients. DLNSEO then sends an application package to the hiring manager at the selecting office.

4. After receiving the application package, the hiring manager at the selecting office reviews the applications and conducts interviews. The hiring manager then selects a candidate for hire.

Issuing a Conditional Offer of Employment

5. With assistance from the hiring office’s human resources division, the hiring manager completes a Standard Form 52 (SF-52), Request for Personnel Action. Attached, you will find an SF-52 template based on Boren hires at the Department of Defense Human Resources Activity (DHRA).

6. At the same time as completing the SF-52, the hiring agency requests a Letter of Certification from DLNSEO for the selected Boren applicant(s). The Boren program office will send that letter before 5:00 PM Eastern Time on the day of the letter request.

7. The hiring office’s human resources division sends the following materials to the servicing agency that typically makes conditional offers of employment to new hires:
   i. Selectee’s application package
   ii. Completed SF-52
   iii. Letter of Certification

8. The servicing agency that received the hiring package makes a conditional offer to the new hire.

After Issuing the Conditional Offer of Employment

9. If you have questions about the Boren hiring process after selecting a candidate, please contact Roy Savoy at roy.a.savoy.2.ctr@mail.mil.

10. Consult the attached Personnel Action Event Timeline to learn how and when to convert your office’s Boren hire to permanent career status.

ENCLOSURES TO THIS GUIDE

There are five documents enclosed with this guide. These documents can assist your office in non-competitively hiring Boren Scholars and Fellows. These enclosures are described below:

Enclosure 1: Vacancy Announcement Template for Boren Awardees

Dozens of agencies throughout the federal government have used the above methods to hire Boren Scholars and Fellows non-competitively. Several of these offices have chosen to modify and then use the sample vacancy announcement at Enclosure 1 to advertise to Boren awardees.

Enclosure 2: Standard Form 52, Request for Personnel Action (SF-52) Template

The SF-52, Request for Personnel Action is the official form that federal agencies use to request a hiring action. The attached template is for the non-competitive hire of Boren Scholars and Fellows. This template is based on Boren hiring actions at the Defense Human Resources Activity (DHRA).
Enclosure 3: Personnel Action Event Timeline

Enclosure 3 lays out the timeline for converting a Boren hire from the excepted service, to career-conditional status, and finally, to permanent career status. A federal office executes these conversions by sending a new SF-52—filled out according to the timeline—to human resources.

The Boren National Security Education Act (NSEA) grants federal agencies the authority to hire Boren Scholars and Fellows through non-competitive hiring mechanisms. The NSEA also allows federal agencies to non-competitively convert Boren hires to career status. An excerpt of these authorities appears at Enclosure 4 of this guide.

Enclosure 5: List of Federal Agencies and Offices with National Security Responsibilities

To use the non-competitive hiring authorities in the Boren National Security Education Act, a federal agency or office must have national security responsibilities. The National Security Education Board (NSEB)—a board comprised of cabinet level and presidentially-appointed members—determines which federal agencies have national security responsibilities. The board publishes this list every year in the National Security Education Program Annual Report.

A copy of the most recent list of federal agencies with national security responsibilities is at Enclosure 5.
